

Gender Issues and our Children: Clarity and Counsel in the Midst of Confusion

Tuesday, Oct. 22, 7:00 p.m.
Resurrection Hall

Would you like help navigating some of these questions for your children?

- “Why does that boy want to be called a girl?”
- “Why can’t a man date a man?”
- “Am I gay if I like someone of the same sex?”
- “What should I say to my friend if she tells me she’s transgender?”
- “If it’s wrong to marry someone of the same sex, why is it legal?”
- “How do I know what gender I am?”
- “Why did Aunt Jan marry a girl?”

If your children have not asked some of these questions, they likely will in time. Our culture is pervaded with a “gender agenda” that brings confusion home to every family and impacts every child’s world. Our upcoming SFA meeting will host a panel of speakers who share insights on how to help you help your children to have clarity in the midst of this confusion. Each speaker has a wealth of experience from a key perspective that can help. There will be a short presentation and then plenty of time for Q & A. You won’t want to miss it!

Speaker Panel:

Fr. Ryan Kaup — Fr. Kaup is a priest of the Diocese of Lincoln. He has served in 3 different parishes and 3 different Diocesan high schools in his 5 years of priesthood. He is currently the pastor of St. Benedict Church in Nebraska City and teaches Junior Morality at Lourdes Central Catholic High School.

Evan Divis — Evan Divis, MA, LMHP (Licensed Mental Health Practitioner) has been practicing as a clinical therapist in Lincoln for over 4 years, specializing in the treatment of trauma and attachment loss. He is privileged to call himself a Catholic psychotherapist, integrating the Catholic faith with evidenced based practices to help heal wounds people carry. He and his wonderful and supportive wife, Tabitha have two young boys, John Paul and Eli.

Jodi Gabel — Jodi Gabel is a Masters level social worker, and teaches related courses as an adjunct instructor at several area colleges and universities while she does her best to parent four children, along with her husband, Tom of 15 years. They attend St. Mary’s parish in Denton, and their children attend St. Peter School.
